Please explain how these funds will be used to provide a public benefit:
The Higher Education Excellence Enhancement Program (HEEEP) funds contribute to the strengthening of higher education institutions and educating individuals, both of which enhance and strengthen society. Therefore, through the use of HEEEP funds, Clinton College is able to advance its mission of educating individuals, while also strengthening its programs, administrative management, and infrastructure. In addition, funds provided through HEEEP for The WACH Health Institute also provide a public benefit in that The WACH Institute's mission is to eliminate racial health disparities and ensure equitable community health outcomes through participatory evaluation, applied research, assessment, planning, and data services. The WACH Institute, which is housed at Clinton College, is part of a joint collaborative of South Carolina's Historically Black Colleges and Universities Institutes of Innovation and Information.
