COLLEGE GOAL SOUTH CAROLINA

College Goal South Carolina is an annual event which helps students and families complete the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA). The FAFSA is the single most important financial aid form you will complete as you apply to college. Also, the FAFSA can be a prerequisite for qualifying for private awards.

In addition to getting professional help to complete the FAFSA at the College Goal South Carolina event, students are also provided information on state scholarship programs, as well as information about the state's two-year and four-year higher education institutions.

This school year, College Goal South Carolina events will be held at multiple locations across South Carolina. The different locations and dates can be found at www.che.sc.gov/sccango. Mark your calendars to save the date for this FREE event!

What should I bring to College Goal South Carolina?

Checklist of items NEEDED from you and your parent(s)/guardian(s) in order to successfully complete and submit your Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) during a College Goal South Carolina event*:

- ✓ Social Security Number
- ✓ Alien Registration Number (if you are not a U.S. citizen)
- ✓ Most recent federal income tax returns, W-2s, and other records of money earned**
- ✓ Bank statements and records of investments (if applicable)
- ✓ Records of untaxed income (if applicable)
- ✓ Federal Student Aid (FSA) ID (The FSA ID gives you access to Federal Student Aid's online systems and can serve as your legal signature. If you do not already have an FSA ID, you can create one at www.fafsa.ed.gov.)

Only the owner of the FSA ID should create and use the account. Never share your FSA ID.

**If you are not a dependent student, you do not need the listed items from your parent(s)/guardian(s).*

\*You may be able to transfer your federal tax return information into your FAFSA using the IRS Data Retrieval Tool.*

Where does my FAFSA information go once I submit it?

Your FAFSA information is shared with the colleges and/or career schools you list on the application. The financial aid office at a college uses your information to figure out how much federal student aid you may receive at that college. If the college has its own funds to use for financial aid, it might use your FAFSA information to determine your eligibility for that aid as well. (The college might also have additional forms you need to fill out for institutional aid, so check with the financial aid office to be sure.)

Your information also goes to your state higher education agency, as well as to agencies of the states where your chosen colleges/schools are located.

So, the FAFSA helps you apply for federal, state, and college financial aid. Not bad for a form that takes students an average of less than half an hour to complete!

Who participates in College Goal South Carolina?

College Goal South Carolina is open to all college-bound students regardless of age. Whether a traditional student right out of high school, or an adult who is returning or pursuing higher education for the first time, College Goal South Carolina will help you complete the FAFSA accurately and on time. Dependent students (those under 24) should bring a parent or legal guardian. Independent students (24 or over) will not require a parent's income information.

What if I'm not sure I'll attend college?

Many students are not sure if they will be attending right after high school. When you complete the FAFSA, you aren't obligated to attend college. However, by completing it, you ensure that you won't miss any deadlines, which is important in case you decide to apply to college later in the year.

Who will I hear from, and when?

The office of Federal Student Aid at the U.S. Department of Education will send you a Student Aid Report (SAR), which is a summary of the FAFSA data you submitted. You'll get your SAR within three days to three weeks after you submit your FAFSA. Be sure to look over your SAR to make sure you didn't make a mistake on your FAFSA.

The SAR won't tell you how much financial aid you'll get. Instead, if you applied for admission to a college or career school and have been accepted, and you listed that school on your FAFSA, the school will calculate your aid and will send you an electronic or paper "award letter" telling you how much aid you're eligible for at the college. The timing of the award letter varies from college to college and could be as early as springtime (awarding for the fall) or as late as immediately before you start college. It depends on when you apply and how the college prefers to schedule awarding of aid.

DEFINITIONS

Award Letter	An offer from a college or career school that states the type and amount of financial aid the school is willing to provide if you accept admission and register to take classes at that school.
Bachelor's Degree	An undergraduate academic degree awarded for a course of study that generally lasts four years. Colleges or universities generally award bachelor's degrees.
Dependent Student	A student who does not meet any of the criteria for an independent student. An independent student is one of the following: at least 24 years old, married, a graduate or professional student, a veteran, a member of the armed forces, an orphan, a ward of the court, someone with legal dependents other than a spouse, an emancipated minor or someone who is homeless or at risk of becoming homeless.
Expected Family Contribution (EFC)	This is the number that's used to determine your eligibility for federal student financial aid. This number results from the financial information you provide in your FAFSA, the application for federal student aid. Your EFC is reported to you on your Student Aid Report (SAR).
FAFSA	Free Application for Federal Student Aid
Federal Student Loan	A loan funded by the federal government to help pay for your education. A federal student loan is borrowed money you must repay with interest.
Financial Aid Office	The office at a college or career school that is responsible for preparing and communicating information on financial aid. This office helps students apply for and receive student loans, grants, scholarships and other types of financial aid.
Grant	Financial aid, often based on financial need, that does not need to be repaid (unless, for example, you withdraw from school and owe a refund).
Merit-based	Based on a student's skill or ability. Example: A merit-based scholarship might be awarded based on a student's high grades.
Need-based	Based on a student's financial need. Example: A need-based grant might be awarded based on a student's low income.
Scholarship	Money awarded to students based on academic or other achievements to help pay for education expenses. Scholarships generally do not have to be repaid.
Student Aid Report (SAR)	A summary of the information you submitted on your FAFSA. You receive this report (often called the SAR) via e-mail a few days after your FAFSA has been processed or by mail within 7-10 days if you did not provide an e-mail address. If there are no corrections or additional information you must provide, the SAR will contain your EFC, which is the number that's used to determine your eligibility for federal student aid.

Is the FAFSA really free?

Yes. The Free Application for Federal Student Aid is just that — FREE.

What should I do if I don't have the information that I need when I start to apply?

You can begin your FAFSA application without completing it in the same session. Simply save it and log in again at a later time to complete and submit.

If something in the income section doesn't apply to me, should I just leave it blank?

Don't leave anything blank in the income section. If it doesn't apply, select '0'. Blank answers will only delay the processing of your application.

Who does "you" and "your" refer to?

These words always mean the student (you).

Do I really need my parents' signatures?

Make sure all parties included in the FAFSA sign it. An unsigned FAFSA will not be processed.

What is the process for getting a FSA ID?

Visit www.fafsa.ed.gov and select the "FSA ID" tab at the top of the page to create your ID. Once you have received your ID, do not share it with anyone. It will be connected to your personal information, so treat it as you would your social security number.

Do parents need FSA IDs?

Yes, a dependent student will need to have one of his or her legal parents sign the student's FAFSA, so the parent needs an FSA ID as well. It's important to understand that the student and the parent may not share an FSA ID: Your FSA ID is your signature, so it has to be unique to you.

How much financial aid am I eligible to receive?

The financial aid office at your college will determine how much financial aid you are eligible to receive. Your eligibility for most federal student aid depends on a variety of factors, including your Expected Family Contribution (EFC), your year in college, your enrollment status, and the cost of attendance at the college you will be attending.

For more information, contact the financial aid office at your college or see Funding Your Education: The Guide to Federal Student Aid at <http://studentaid.ed.gov/resources>.

Where do I mail my tax forms?

Your tax forms should only be used as a reference for completing the FAFSA. DO NOT mail tax forms or worksheets to Federal Student Aid.

What is the Selective Service ?

The Selective Service System preserves America's ability to provide manpower in an emergency to the U.S. Armed Forces. If you are a male and are between the ages of 18-26, the FAFSA application offers you an opportunity to register.
